WAR ON WASTE

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

FURIOUS residents and business owners have spoken of their disbelief after controversial plans for a new waste transfer site in Harlow were approved by Essex County Council.

Despite receiving hundreds of objections opposing the proposals for the waste station on the Templefields Industrial Estate – including a recommendation from Harlow Council advising against the plans – members of ECC's development and regulation committee voted in favour of the development on Friday.

The Star understands that Michael Garnett, county councillor for Harlow North and current Harlow Council chairman, was one of the six councillors who voted in favour of the proposals.

With no overall majority, the decision was pushed through by the committee chairman's casting vote.

Mr Garnett was unavailable to comment as the Star went to press.

"Everyone is absolutely horrified," said Bernadette Miele, headteacher of Tany's Dell Primary School, which is located less than 250 yards away from the site of the new waste station.

"Although the school building is 250 yards away from the proposed site, our school grounds – which the children use for play and outside learning – are closer. "I have already had parents say that they will take their children out of the school – I am extremely concerned."

The new waste transfer station has been designed to handle up to 55,000 tonnes of household and garden waste from Harlow and Epping each year and will require up to 100 extra collection vehicles to pass through town each day. "It will be a disaster for Harlow and my confidence in the whole consultation system has been lost," added Ms Miele. "We will continue to do anything we can to stop this."

Harlow MP Robert Halfon said he was "very disappointed" with the decision and criticised the county council for a lack of public consultation on the plans. "This is not the right site for the waste transfer plant and I will be looking at all possible avenues for an appeal," he added.

Councillor Shona Johnson, chairman of Harlow Council's development management committee, said the district council shared their residents' concerns.

"Our objections to the planning application were sympathetic to the concerns of local residents and we felt the more suitable location for the station was the previously identified site in North Weald," she said.

"Clearly we share our residents' disappointment about this decision and we will continue to monitor developments."

However, Michael Hustwit – who previously said he would consider moving his electronic manufacturing business from the Templefields site if the waste transfer station went ahead – remained resolute.

"The battle isn't over yet," he told the Star this week. "They haven't made anything official and there are discrepancies that still need to be addressed before they can go through with the development."

Essex County Council had failed to provide a comment on the decision as the Star went to press yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon.

Perry and Alex net pro trials

A SOCCER scouting school returns to Harlow next month with the goal of transforming promising youngsters into professional football players. Run by former Harlow Town FC captain Leo Roget, the twice-weekly training sessions for 12- to 15-year-olds will take place at Mark Hall Sports Centre on First Avenue on Monday and Wednesday evenings. The six-week course, which kicks off on October 10, will then culminate in a match attended by scouts from professional clubs in all leagues - including the Premiership. A similar soccer school in May resulted in two local youngsters - Perry Spencer (16) and Alex Luque (15) - securing trials with Leyton Orient and Colchester. Former centre-half Leo told the Star he was now hoping to repeat his scouting success. The course costs £90 and can be paid for in advance or in weekly instalments. For more information, contact Leo on 07933 547525 or send an email to thomaserl@yahoo.co.uk.

Arson attack at Old Town Indian eatery

POLICE have issued an urgent appeal for the public's help following an arson attack at an Indian restaurant in Old Harlow.

The incident happened at around 10.30pm on Sunday when a man entered the Raj Lodge restaurant on High Street before lighting two crudely made bottle-bombs and throwing them into the premises.

One of the incendiaries exploded behind the bar area near the restaurant's entrance and the other hit the floor of the dining area in between two tables, burning the carpet and walls.

Fortunately, no one was dining in the restaurant at the time of the attack as it was about to close. Staff members on site were left uninjured but shaken.

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Company director Mo Uddin, who runs the restaurant with his father Jamal, told the Star he was "shocked" by the attack.

"My father opened this restaurant in 1988 and we've never had anything like this happen here before - it's shocking," he said.

"It came completely out of the blue - some of the boys were preparing to cash up before closing up for the night and then this guy walks in and chucks a couple of exploding bottles into the restaurant.

"Luckily, there was no one eating, as we were about to close.

"Fortunately, the explosions didn't cause much damage, and we were able to fully reopen by Monday evening."

The suspect is described as a white man, 5ft 8in tall, wearing a baggy grey hoody, light camouflage trousers and a red scarf over his face.

He was wearing surgical gloves and was carrying a red and black bag.

Inspector Stephen Ellis of Essex Police said: "We are extremely concerned regarding this incident, if you were in the area, or noticed someone acting suspiciously, please contact us."

Anyone with any information should contact Inspector Ellis at Harlow police station on 101 - 0300 333 4444 if calling from outside Essex - or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

School head's 3,000 emails!

A HARLOW school has shot to fame after millions tuned in for its debut on new Channel 4 reality series Educating Essex last week.

Passmore School, whose staff and pupils star in the fly-on-the-wall documentary, became the hot topic of conversation during the programme's first showing last Thursday.

The opening episode, which aims to show the day-to-day workings of a modern secondary school, received mixed reviews from national newspapers, with some criticising the school for taking part in the "unflattering" project.

However, the majority of press articles and viewers' comments congratulated Passmore on helping to produce an honest depiction of modern school life, with one teacher, writing for the Radio Times, calling it "exactly the sort of documentary that many teachers have been crying out for."

"The impact across the nation has been astounding - I have received more than 3,000 emails congratulating us on the programme so far," said headmaster Vic Goddard, talking exclusively to the Star.

"Although we knew opinions would be divided, I didn't expect to start a national debate about comprehensive education!"

● Educating Essex continues on Channel 4 tonight (Thursday) at 9pm, and you can read Vic's exclusive weekly blog at www.harlowstar.co.uk.

Dog team searching for more volunteers

A HARLOW-based charity is calling on dog owners and their pets to help them find missing and vulnerable people across Essex.

Volunteer group Search Dogs Essex trains and provides dogs to find people reported missing by the authorities at any time of the day, seven days a week. With more than 9,000 people reported missing across the county every year, the group plays a valuable role in helping families to be reunited as quickly as possible with their loved ones.

"The majority of our work is centred on finding people who have conditions like dementia and have wandered from their homes," explained group chairwoman Karin Yung.

"If no-one has seen the person then it can be incredibly difficult for local authority foot teams to locate them. However, our animals are usually able to find the missing person very quickly, giving peace of mind to the family involved and stopping the person from coming to any harm."

The group, which has been running since 2006, needs more volunteers to help expand the service it provides.

By VICKY LANE

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"We really need both human and dog volunteers to help boost up the team," said Karin. "The more dogs we have trained, the more we have ready to respond as quickly as possible to the increasing number of call-outs."

"It is a hugely rewarding role and over 90 per cent of the time we have a happy outcome. The feeling from knowing that your dog is responsible for that is quite incredible."

Although members of the organisation often volunteer their own pets to become search dogs, Karin says people without dogs can also help the team.

"There are many other roles that need filling, whether it is helping to train the dog to giving navigation support when the dogs are out on a search," she said. "Any help is greatly appreciated."

"Even if someone can only offer an hour of their time a week that will be a big help. Any extra support would be absolutely fantastic."

For more information on volunteering with the group, visit the website at www.searchdogsexessex.org.uk.

Keeping pupils in the classroom

FIVE groups have joined forces to tackle the high number of school exclusions in Harlow. With hundreds of pupils excluded every academic year, support organisations Catch22, I CAN, Rathbone, the Pupil Partnership and Dyslexia Action are implementing a new mentoring scheme to try to get more children to stay in the classroom.

The Engage in Education programme will work closely with schools to prevent the situations that lead to young people dropping out of school from happening in the first place.

"The thing that's different about Engage in Education is that we are able to tailor our support to meet the needs of each child," explained Harlow project co-ordinator Petra Velzeboer.

"Our mentors and key workers are skilled and trained to provide intensive support at a critical age for many young people."

The programme's provision for schools is free for the first 18 months and will also include communications training, links to local business and family support.

Card charity in need of helpers

A NATIONAL Christmas card charity is looking for volunteers to help it run a new shop in Harlow.

Every Christmas, Cards For Good Causes sells cards for more than 320 national and local charities from temporary shops on sites including churches, libraries and community centres.

This year the group is bringing its range of festive goods to Harlow Library between November 17 and December 17 and is seeking volunteers to run the operation.

Area organiser Mary Cronin said: "We are very pleased to be having a card shop in Harlow this year and are now looking for people to help run it."

"There is always a great atmosphere and our volunteers really enjoy themselves. plus they are helping a lot of great charities across the country."

If you can spare a few hours or want more information, contact Mary on (01255) 831262 or visit the Cards For Good Causes website at www.cardsforcharity.co.uk.

Lottery winners

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the weekly St Clare Hospice lottery draw on Friday, September 23 is ticket holder 437880, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 150797, who lives in Epping.

New group providing support for epilepsy sufferers

A NATIONAL charity providing support and information to people affected by epilepsy is opening a new branch in Harlow.

Epilepsy Action has an extensive network of groups across the country offering a mixture of social events, informative talks and discussions for those affected by the condition.

"With the closest branch currently being in Saffron Walden, we had quite a few people from the Harlow area saying we would appreciate a more local group and they were very keen to set that up," said regional manager Marie Edgar.

"They are great support groups and offer the opportunity for people affected by epilepsy in any way to socialise, gain advice and receive all the latest information."

"It is also a chance for anyone in the community to learn about what to do if someone is suffering a fit. People can get very scared by epilepsy, but actually the first aid procedure is very simple."

All are welcome to join the Harlow Epilepsy Action group, which will be holding its first meeting next Wednesday (October 5) in the health resource centre at Harlow Leisurezone from 7pm.

"It will be a nice relaxed evening where people can learn more about Epilepsy Action, listen to a specialist guest speaker and get to know each other," added Marie.

"The main thing now is that we get as many people as possible involved with the new branch to help keep it going and make it into a really effective support group."

For more information about Epilepsy Action visit www.epilepsy.org.uk.

Woman says ex 'broke her nose'

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW nightclub worker who claims her ex-boyfriend kidnapped her before breaking her nose wept in the witness box as she told of her alleged ordeal this week.

Sophie Johnson, of Hart Road, now faces plastic surgery to overcome breathing problems said to have been caused by her injuries at the hand of Joseph Mills, of Piggotts Way, Bishop's Stortford.

She told Chelmsford Crown Court on Tuesday that Mills – who denies kidnap and assault causing actual bodily harm – had "ambushed" her on May 9 this year before dragging her towards Harlow Mill Station.

Miss Johnson – who had briefly lived with Mills at an address in Hertford before the couple split up – claimed she had agreed to meet him outside the Oasis Hotel at around 4am after he had earlier threatened to kill her disabled sister, her parents and her brother if she didn't go to him.

She said: "He pulled me 100 yards down an alleyway which leads to the platform at Harlow Mill Train Station. He told me he was going to throw me under a train – I was scared."

She claimed Mills then kept her at the station for almost an hour, asking her: "Do you want the fast train or the slow train?"

He also asked her whether she had cheated on him, she told the jury, to which she replied she had not.

"I told him to go home and he asked for a cuddle – I said 'ok' to keep the peace – and he put his arms around my shoulders. I kept my arms at my sides," she said.

"He then lent back and punched me in the face and I fell into the car – it was instant pain. My face was numb, throbbing and blood was gushing out everywhere. Blood was coming from my nose. I could feel it was broken."

Initially she said Mills (22) drove her to the Rivers Hospital in Sawbridgeworth – which does not have a casualty department – for treatment, but then sped toward his Stortford home, where he is said to have covered her with a sleeping bag and stamped on her head.

But yesterday (Wednesday), the court was read a statement given by Mills to police in which the defendant claimed to have been asleep at the time of the alleged incident.

He told police that on the evening of May 9 he had gone shopping at a Tesco Express store before heading to a friend's house and later returning home to go to bed.

He claimed he had met Miss Johnson briefly earlier in the weekend after leaving a nightclub, but had not seen her since, adding that she had asked him to visit her but that he had refused.

The case continues.

Janette would cross hot coals for you!

THRILLSEEKERS turned up the heat by taking part in a firewalk in aid of Princess Alexandra Hospital's intensive care unit appeal. Ten daredevils braved temperatures of 500 degrees Celsius to walk over a bed of hot coals at Paringdon Sports Club on Friday night, raising more than £2,500. The money will be put towards the purchase of a specialist internal organ scanner, which will cost the PAH NHS Trust around £30,000. Event organiser and participant Janette

Murphy, a counsellor for weight loss group LighterLife, told the Star the firewalk had been an "exhilarating" experience. "I had been on 'organising autopilot', but when the fire was lit and the flames started to leap reality hit," she said. "Seeing the embers glow in the dusk certainly gave me a sense of anticipation - when we were told that the firebed was stable at 500 degrees - hot enough to melt metal... I was glad it was dark, so nobody saw my face drop!"

Trying to cut cable theft

SIR, National Express East Anglia train services were significantly disrupted earlier this month following a further cable theft incident, this time affecting services to Cambridge and Stansted Airport.

There have been over 50 incidents of cable theft on the railway in this region over recent months and the direct impact for rail passengers is significant. In 2010, more than 2,500 trains were delayed or cancelled because of cable theft.

Any one of these incidents can disrupt thousands of passengers, with considerable knock-on effects for businesses across the region.

National Express and Network Rail are working closely with the British Transport Police to try to tackle these problems and mitigate their disruptive effect. These include a dedicated BTP task force with extra officers, partnership and intelligence work with the Serious Organised Crime Agency increased use of CCTV, forensic marking, alarms and other devices, the establishment of fast response teams to get trains moving as quickly as possible following an incident, introduction of new cable that is easier to identify and harder to steal and use of approved scrapyards for disposal of used materials.

However, despite these actions the number of cable thefts has increased, driven by the very high price of copper.

We believe that the relevant legislation must be strengthened if we are to truly address this problem.

As part of an industry-wide campaign we have identified a number of measures that would help, such as a new licensing scheme with rigorous requirements relating to identification and quarantine of metals received, restrictions to cash transactions, significant penalties for non-compliance and powers for the police to close premises that breach conditions and seize assets.

We have written to the region's MPs seeking their support for these changes.

We hope we can secure swift progress so this menace is eradicated from our railways.

We are protecting services' future

SIR, Following your report on the town's museum service and Pets' Corner (Star, September 15), I would like to set out more detail on the council's plans.

As the Star reported, the council organised a very successful Big Society community conference in July to invite expressions of interest in running a number of discretionary services. As a result of this conference, the council received 26 informal expressions of interest.

Whilst the bulk of the expressions of interest came from the voluntary sector, a number of expressions of interest were received from the business community. The council will explore all the ideas put forward before making any final decisions.

Two approaches are emerging which are complementary: some organisations are interested in taking over one or more of the services completely whereas other organisations would like to contribute in some way but do not have the capacity to take on a whole service.

The council is grateful for the support from Rainbow Services and the Voluntary Sector Forum at looking at how a collaborative approach might be developed to allow the smaller organisations to become involved, for example through a community trust, to facilitate their contribution.

It is important to give residents an opportunity to let the council have their views.

Residents attending the neighbourhood forums can use the question and answer session to ask me about the council's Big Society approach to community services.

I am also addressing the Harlow Arts Conference this month to allow people to share their views with me and people can also write to me at the Civic Centre.

When all the final decisions are made, I will ensure that they are communicated to all residents via the local media.

As I have repeatedly said, my most pressing job this year is to do all that I can to support the future of Harlow's community services.

I have approved the formal tender process for the museum service and Pets' Corner and we will adopt this process for other discretionary services.

We are required by law to follow due process to ensure the tenders are widely advertised.

Each bid will be tested for robustness and sustainability as we recognise it is vital that the successful organisations have a lasting future.

The successful bidder(s) will begin operation on April 1 next year after the council has set the budget for the next municipal year.

However, when all the formal bids are received and we are in a position to make the final decisions, the administration will not shy away from doing what must be done to enable the council to achieve the financial targets it has been set by Government. With the financial pressure facing us, to do nothing is no longer an option.

Now is not the time to sit back and blame one another for the past. Residents are more concerned about the decisions we make today and for tomorrow.

My colleagues and I know how important these services are and we will do everything we can to ensure their future success.

Scattered shingle is pointless waste

SIR, We constantly hear Harlow Council crying about how they are cash strapped, but they seem to find money for pointless spending ie statues, plant pots etc.

Can someone please explain to me, as Harlow Council civil servants seem not to want to explain, or they quite simply cannot answer, why they scattered our road with shingle stones, making the road surface dangerous to drive on, from Water Lane to Mallows Green and on to Hull Grove?

These stones have not only damaged a number of windscreens and a lot of vehicles' paintwork, but also hit pedestrians in the face when vehicles drive over them.

After a day, Harlow Council tried to sweep the stones away, only to leave the road no better off than it was before.

So why were shingle stones scattered needlessly in the first place, just for some jobsworth to waste our tax money?

The stones have served no purpose at all – only to give road sweepers something to do.

If the idea was to repair the holes in our roads, why not repair the holes in the road properly (the holes that have been repaired time and time and time again), rather than waste time and hard-earned taxpayers' money for an absolutely pointless task?

Mallows Green

Why was Dale Farm problem put off?

SIR, Never has there been a greater misplaced sense of humanity than Councillor Denis Palmer's stand on the Dale Farm protest. (Star, September 22) His naivety is breathtaking!

His comments regarding dumped hardcore (not requiring planning consent whilst the travellers' concrete does) and the site being a scrapyard have all the hallmarks of old Labour laxity!

He omits to tell us that it was the interference of his former leader, Blair, who gave the travellers false hope by granting them an extension of stay for two years, thus cutting the ground from under Basildon Council.

More than a decade of Labour 'humanity' failed to grasp the very real and locally well-known problems that travellers exhibit. They have obviously required planned and supervised sites for some time, why were they not provided?

A group of people who choose a lifestyle that makes them difficult to communicate with but are vociferous in their own defence require a greater depth of understanding than Cllr Palmer appears to have.

I suggest he directs his efforts to his local residents' concerns regarding the likelihood of a similar state of affairs happening in his ward with all the attendant problems!

A man who cares

SIR, Unfortunately, I missed the programme on Passmoors School, although you can be sure I shall be watching it in the future.

I see Mr Goddard commented that there will be people who will be screaming at their TV's "chuck them out" and I am sure I will be among them.

However, my grandson was deemed a "disruptive pupil", but Mr Goddard, being the man he is, saw his potential.

He put what they called a 'mini school' in place, as I say I didn't see this programme, so don't know if he still uses this method.

My grandson went to college on a bricklaying course whilst in this class – the outcome, after leaving school, he finished the course at Harlow College with honours and distinctions – and he got an International student of the Year award.

If you speak to him today, he will tell you how much respect he has for Mr Goddard and Mr Rudkin, his teacher in the mini school, mainly because they took an interest. You ask any pupil what their favourite subject is, then ask what teacher they like best – invariably, it is one and the same, and invariably it's because they take an interest in them.

If only one pupil succeeds, it is worth it.

So don't judge Mr Goddard as an 'easy' head – he is far from it, he is just a man who cares about his kids.

MP backs rail safety protest

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

A DEAF woman whose dog was killed by a train has called on Network Rail to erect new safety fencing along a "dangerous" stretch of track running through Harlow Town Park.

Kim Herbert, of Altham Grove, lost 'hearing dog' Cassie in 2009 after it ran onto the line while the pair were out on a walk in Maymeads Marsh.

Shocked to discover that parts of the track between Harlow Town Station and the Templefields Industrial Estate did not appear to be fenced off, she has since launched a campaign and online petition calling for urgent safety improvements.

"This is a public place where our dogs and children play – it is unacceptable to have railway lines with no safety fencing in a designated town park," she told the Star.

"But all Network Rail have been able to tell me is that they have "possible plans" for an "update of the fencing" – what fencing?

"I just hope it won't take the death or serious injury of a child to convince them safety needs to be improved."

Ms Herbert's campaign has won the backing of both Harlow Council and MP Rob Halfon, while her online petition has attracted hundreds of signatures.

Mr Halfon told the Star: "I congratulate Kim on her campaign and she can rest assured that I will be doing all I can to support her."

"I think it's absolutely vital Network Rail install suitable safety fencing along this stretch of track not only to protect people's dogs, but also to safeguard children from injury or worse."

A spokesperson for Network Rail claimed the "boundaries" – which can include vegetation – separating the railway line from the park were in "reasonable" condition, but admitted the firm was considering ways of making them more secure.

"We are sorry that a dog was killed on the track in Harlow and since the incident, we have met with the owner and are now looking at ways of making the existing fence alongside the railway more secure," he told the Star.

"We encourage dog owners to keep their pets under full control whenever they are close to the railway in the same way they would alongside a busy road."

To sign the petition, visit www.petitiononline.co.uk and search for 'Cassie's Fence Petition'.

CAMPAIGNERS: Kim Herbert wants Network Rail to fence in the tracks, right, and is supported by MP Rob Halfon, left. Inset, Kim's hearing dog Cassie, who died on the rails in 2009.

Did you see young girl being attacked?

POLICE have issued an urgent appeal for witnesses after a teenage girl was attacked and robbed by a metal bar-wielding thug.

The incident happened near the Bush Fair Co-Op at around 1.50pm on Friday, September 16, when the 16-year-old victim was approached by a young man who tried to grab her handbag.

When the girl fought back, her attacker hit her hand with the weapon before punching her in the stomach and stealing her mobile phone.

He then ran off in the direction of the Esso Garage on Tillwicks Road.

The suspect is described as white, aged approximately 17, 5ft 5in tall and of stocky build. Clean shaven, he had short dark hair and was wearing black jogging bottoms, black trainers and a black/grey coat without a zip.

Anyone with information is urged to contact PC James Smith at Harlow police station on 101 - 0300 333 4444 if calling from outside Essex.

Dinner time for Passmores pupils

By VICKY LANE
vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

WITH Passmores School currently gracing our television screens in the Channel 4 documentary Educating Essex, we thought it would be timely to turn back the clock to the 1970s for our weekly 'helping' of Nostalgia.

This photograph of the Passmores canteen was sent in by former pupil Franky O'Hare (44), who said it was given to him by a friend.

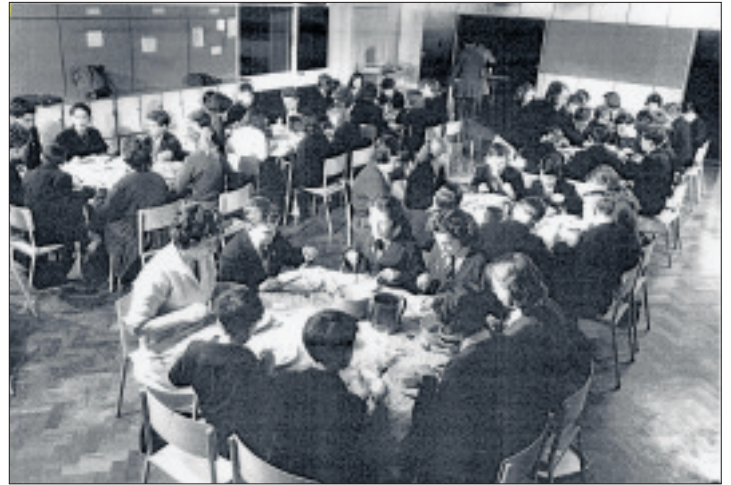

"It came about after we did a tour of Passmores School last year as part of the 50th birthday celebrations," he explained. "I am a real nostalgia fan so my friend sent me the picture."

Franky attended the school from 1975 to 1981. "I think everyone used to enjoy joking about school dinners but they weren't that bad, really," said Franky.

"But to be honest I didn't have them that often because I lived just across the road in Barmmead at the time and used to go home for lunch. They really didn't care back then. You didn't have to sign in or out - anyone could just up and leave.

"School dinners were either for the rich or for those whose parents were on benefits. I suppose I was an 'inbetweenner'."

Now a DJ and father-of-one, Franky, who lives in The Stow, said he has good memories of his time at Passmores. "I bunked off a bit here and there and only lasted two-and-a-half weeks in sixth form but overall I enjoyed my time at Passmores.

"My favourite lesson was music with Mr Melvin White. I'll always remember when he became quite a hit after the brass band he played for appeared in the Batchelors Savoury Rice advert. He got a lot of stick for that!

"There was a sixth form tuck shop where we used to get all our fizzy drinks, crisps and sweets and then at lunchtime we'd all often congregate outside a newsagents called Bunces and buy even more.

"They really didn't care back then. There certainly wasn't any pressure on us pupils getting our five a day."

DO YOU REMEMBER? William Martin Junior school outing

WHILE we are on the subject of schooldays, who remembers the class outing?

With a packed lunch, the freedom to wear your own clothes, extra pocket money for a souvenir and a big bag of sweets for the coach journey, it's no wonder school trips are often fondly remembered.

Even when it involved an outing to the most mundane of places, the thrill of leaving the classroom behind for one day was always a reason to smile - as can be seen in this picture of pupils from William Martin Junior School in the mid 1960s.

The photograph - which was brought in by Sue Simons, of Sumners - shows her with the rest of her classmates posing for a picture during their day out.

"I am next to my best friend, Sue King, and must have been about seven or eight years old," said Sue.

"I am not sure about the exact date of the picture but would guess it to be around 1966 and know it is made up of two classes. I recognise about 14 people although cannot remember for the life of me where it was taken. Maybe someone else can shed some light on that."

Sue says she thinks the paper in her classmates' hands were probably brass rubbings.

"Even with the work we look happy enough. School trips were always fun," she added.

● Can you spot yourself in the photo of the William Martin school trip? Send your memories to Nostalgia, 6 West Gate, Harlow, CM20 1JW or email vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk.

➡ A deposit on shopping trolleys is being introduced at three Harlow supermarkets in a bid to stop them from being dumped and vandalised. Shoppers will pay 10p on each trolley and get their money back when they have returned it to the collection points around the town centre.

➡ Harlow Council is considering implementing a new wheelchair service to help disabled shoppers get around the town's shops. The new Shopmobility scheme would provide a short-term loan of electronically powered and hand propelled wheelchairs to those with limited mobility.

➡ A plea went out this week to a thief to return a charity box stolen at last month's Victorian Fair. The Cheshire Homes box was taken from a stall at the St John's Arts and Recreation Centre craft fair.

➡ Watch yourself or lose your funding - that's the warning being given to Harlow Unemployment Centre after it was put on a four-month probation following an investigation into political activity. Though the centre was cleared of any wrong-doing, it has been banned from getting involved in political pursuits including industrial actions and displaying political posters.

Teen robbed by man with bar

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

A TEENAGER was taken to hospital after being attacked and robbed on a Harlow street by a man wielding an iron bar.

The 19-year-old victim was walking along Brooklane Field at around 9pm on Monday, September 19 when he was approached by his attacker.

Despite fighting back, he sustained multiple injuries as the man hit him repeatedly with the weapon before wrestling him to the ground and demanding his phone and keys.

The attacker then shouted over to another man who was standing near the junction with Southern Way before running off along Southern Way in the direction of Traces Road.

The victim was taken to hospital suffering from cuts, bruises and a chipped tooth.

The suspect is described as a white man with pale complexion in his late teens or early twenties, approximately 5ft 8in to 5ft 9in tall and of medium build with light brown to blond hair.

He was wearing a grey hoody and tracksuit and spoke with a slight Irish accent.

Police believe he may have also had his victim's blood on his clothes.

The second man, who was standing near the junction with Southern Way, was dressed all in black.

Anyone with any information is urged to contact PC Garry Bray at Harlow police station on 101 - 0300 333 4444 if calling outside Essex - or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Charlotte collects award

THE inspirational founder of a Harlow-based children's charity has scooped an award in recognition of her tireless efforts to help others.

Charlotte Burfitt, who set up Spinal Muscular Atrophy charity the Annabelle Rose Foundation in 2010 after tragically losing her daughter to the rare genetic condition, was voted as one of the winners of MyDaily.co.uk's 'Amazing Women' competition - a nationwide search to find the UK's biggest unsung heroes.

She attended a glitzy awards bash in London last week, where she was presented with her award by singer and website contributing editor Dannii Minogue.

The former X Factor judge said: "The Amazing Women event was such an inspiration and it was a real honour to be there to celebrate with the winners of MyDaily's campaign."

"There were some amazing stories of bravery and determination and it's fantastic that we've been able to bring recognition to just some of the many women in the UK who work tirelessly to help and inspire others."

For more information on the Annabelle Rose Foundation, visit www.annabellerosefoundation.co.uk.

Fundraising dinner for grandparents

A CASH-STRAPPED local charity which provides support to people who have been denied contact with their grandchildren is hosting a fun-packed fundraising evening next week.

The Grandparents' Association helps more than 8,000 grannies and grandads every year from its base in The Stow but receives no funding from the Government.

In a bid to raise vital funds to keep its unique service running, the charity is holding a dance and buffet at Canons Brook Golf Club on Friday, October 7.

Starting at 7.30pm and going on until midnight, the evening will feature live music, a light buffet, raffle and auction, with all guests receiving a goody bag.

Tickets cost £10. Visit the charity's website at www.grandparents-association.org.uk or call the office on (01279) 428040 for more information.

BUSY BEES NURSERY Tots said goodbye to the summer with a fun-packed beach day at the nursery in The Greenway.

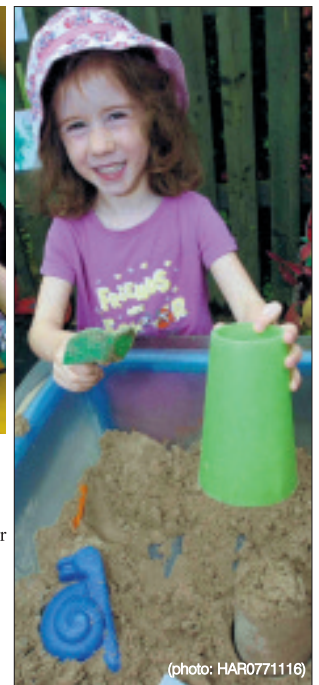

The pre-school was transformed into a seaside paradise complete with sandpits as the youngsters made sandcastles, played with beach balls and tucked into ice cream cones.

They then sat down to enjoy a delicious lunch of fish and chips followed later by a teatime picnic of scones and jam.

Nursery manager Louise Christie said: "We wanted to do something to celebrate the last days of summer so we came up with the idea of having a beach day.

"Luckily, the weather held out for us and we all had a lovely day of fun and games. It was the perfect way to say goodbye to the hot weather."

CHURCHGATE STREET PRIMARY: Pupils went bonkers for conkers after being challenged to make their own playground masterpieces.

Instead of playing traditional games, they used their lunch break to collect and arrange conkers into a series of works of art.

The finished results included a cross, a smiley face and even Noah's Ark. Each class was rewarded with a certificate for their efforts.

School assistant Linda Darrell said: "Rather than just supervising the children's conker fights we thought we'd challenge them to do something a bit different.

"They all had great fun collecting and arranging the conkers into their own works of art and we had some stunning results."

BUSY BEES

NURSERY Children got a lesson in Native American culture and music when flautist Paul Jones paid a visit to the Perry Road nursery.

English-born Paul, who lives with his Sioux wife on a reservation in America, gave the youngsters a fascinating insight into the lifestyle and traditions of the tribe.

He then performed a set of traditional Sioux flute music, with several of the tots joining him on different instruments.

Nursery owner Emma Pike said: "It was an amazing day. The children were completely mesmerised by the beautiful and relaxing music Paul played for us."

In and around Harlow

IT may have been called Harlow New Town, but Harlow is no longer quite so new, having celebrated its 64th birthday earlier this year.

It's a town that offers a great deal, from numerous high street shops and small independent stores to superb leisure facilities and more.

It was on March 25, 1947, that Harlow New Town was officially designated as one of eight completely new planned communities with a vision of a community offering work and homes to those who moved here.

Harlow was developed around the market town of Old Harlow and the villages of Great Parndon, Latton, Little Parndon and Netteswell. It was designed by architect-planner Sir Frederick Gibberd and was designed to re-house those displaced from the bombing of east London during the Second World War.

Although well known as a New Town, Harlow has evidence of settlements dating back thousands of years. There is evidence of ancient occupation in the area and axe heads made about 6000BC have been found at Parndon. There is also a Roman mosaic floor in the Templefields area of the town.

Harlow is comprised of a series of neighbourhoods, separated by green wedges which make access to natural landscape easy for the town's 80,000 residents. Each neighbourhood was designed so that residents could access schools, shops and health services within easy walking distance.

The town is famous for having Britain's first pedestrian precinct in the town centre and Britain's first tower block, The Lawn, which was constructed in 1951.

Sir Frederick Gibberd did not only plan Harlow, but was also responsible for establishing the Harlow Arts Trust.

Redevelopment in the southern area of the town has led to a new Civic Centre and the construction of new shops and restaurants, including the increasingly-popular Water Gardens complex.

PC Rob helps out at orphanage on his summer hols

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW police officer has returned from a summer holiday with a difference after spending two weeks helping out at an orphanage in Sri Lanka.

Neighbourhood officer PC Rob Hance travelled to a small village in Agape last month to help decorate the local orphanage and spend time with the 120 children who call it home.

Many of the youngsters have come from tragic backgrounds, but PC Hance and his family were able to put a smile on their faces by leading a holiday club, hosting a 'Sri Lanka's Got Talent' contest and even organising a 'school sports day' complete with egg and spoon and sack races.

The children also tucked into a tasty fish curry, bread and ice cream supper as a thank you from PC Hance and his family.

He said: "The children never have bread because it's too expensive – it's almost impossible to imagine that something we eat as a quick snack is completely missing from their daily diet."

"It's impossible to describe the faces of the children when they were given a huge doorstep of fresh bread to eat with their fish curry."

"We wanted them to have a meal to remember."

The carers at the orphanage – known as care mothers – were also given a well-earned rest, with PC Hance treating them to relaxing spa treatments.

"The care mothers work tirelessly to look after the children, so it was good for them to receive some care for a change," he said.

PC Hance also visited the country's southern coast where a devastating tsunami struck in December 2004.

He said: "There has been a lot of redevelopment, but there are still some shocking reminders of what happened."

"There is a field in the centre of town where those who died are buried and we had lunch with a lady who lost her husband."

He added: "I will never forget my trip to Sri Lanka – and I have no doubt that the children will remember the egg and spoon and sack races for a long while to come!"

The tiny fish tank you can hold in your hand

A RUSSIAN artist claims he has created the world's smallest working aquarium – which holds just two teaspoons of water!

The tiny glass fish tank is smaller than an ice cube and contains miniature plants, multi-coloured stones and miniscule zebra danio fish.

It can only be filled up using a syringe and the tiny fish have to be added with a specially-made miniature fish net.

The bizarre creation is the latest work by 57-year-old Anatoly Konenko, who specialises in what he calls 'microminiature' art.

He told reporters: "The tank was made out of curiosity. It is the world's smallest and holds only 10ml of water.

"For reference, 5ml is one teaspoon, so the aquarium can hold only two teaspoons worth of water."

Over the past 30 years Mr Konenko has perfected the painstaking skill of writing and drawing on tiny grains of rice, poppy seeds and even human hair using a microscope and precision tools.

In 1996, he made it into the Guinness Book of World Records for making the world's smallest-ever book. It included 29 pages, three color illustrations and a portrait and measured 0.9 x 0.9 mm.

His other extraordinary creations have included a grasshopper playing a tiny violin and a group of 12 miniature camels set inside the eye of a needle.

Happy Birthday

Residents keep down energy use

HARLOW is leading the way in reducing electricity, gas and fuel consumption across Essex, new Government figures have revealed.

According to a nationwide survey by the Department of Energy and Climate Change, the town has steadily reduced the size of its carbon footprint since 2005, with CO2 emissions dropping considerably per person over the past six years.

The statistics, which take industrial, residential and road transport emissions into account, show that each resident now produces an average of 7.1 tonnes of carbon dioxide per year – a drop of almost 1.7 tonnes on 2005 figures and the largest reduction per person in the whole county.

Councillor Tony Hall, portfolio holder for the environment, told the Star the "encouraging" figures suggested that council-backed energy-saving schemes – such as providing new cavity wall insulation for council homes – had proved effective.

"This is a really encouraging long-term trend, although there is still a lot of work to

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

do," he said.

"Harlow residents have clearly played their role in being more energy conscious, and we're seeing the long term benefits of that now."

He added that the authority hoped to make further CO2 reductions by installing new solar panels on almost 1,200 council-owned properties across the town and by continuing to cut energy use at the Civic Centre.

"Harlow Council has put its own house in order by reducing energy use and earlier this year, the council revealed it had saved £246,000 from its energy bill over a year by introducing energy-saving measures at the Civic Centre," he said.

"With moves to cleaner sources of energy at the top of the agenda, I hope we can keep pushing this figure further downwards."

Football legends enjoy golf day

FORMER Spurs stars were among the celebrities swinging into action for disabled children at a fundraising golf day in aid of sporting charity The President's Sporting Club.

World Cup winner Martin Peters MBE, former Tottenham and England striker Martin Chivers, West Ham's John Moncur and Wales rugby star Adrian Davies joined 24 teams teeing off for the charity at Canons Brook Golf Club. Boxing legend Frank Bruno MBE – the charity's president – then sat down with the generous golfers for lunch before the group were entertained by former England hockey player and professional after-dinner speaker Roger Dakin. Charity chairman Mike Jackson told the Star: "The day went fantastically well and we managed to raise around £4,000 for The President's Sporting Club and Essex Disabled Sports Foundation. "The charity has now raised well over £1.5 million in total, all of which has been donated to local schools and organisations to provide sporting facilities and opportunities for disabled children in Essex and surrounding area."

Fans have 50 brews to choose

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

REAL ale fans will get the chance to sample almost 50 different brews from across the UK when a Harlow pub hosts its annual beer festival.

Those with more adventurous palates will also be able to sup five different American cask-conditioned beers specially shipped in by The William Aylmer for the 19-day celebration, which starts on October 5.

The UK brews on offer will include The Governor (JW Lees), Ginger Beard (Wychwood), Horse Rustler (White Horse), Old Crafty Hen (Morland), Pudding Porter (Tring), Vapour Trail (Salopian) and Brother Rabbit (Thornbridge).

The beers include those brewed for the first time exclusively for the event, speciality beers with interesting ingredients (including fruit, spices and honey) and defunct beers resurrected especially for the festival.

Customers will be able to sample any

three of the beers in special third-of-a-pint glasses for the same price of a pint, which during the festival will be set at £2.10.

Pub manager Philip Stanyon said: "The festival will give people the opportunity to enjoy a superb selection of American beers not usually available in the UK, as well as wonderful beers brewed closer to home."

"The festival promises to be great fun and I am certain that customers at The William Aylmer will enjoy themselves."

Sculpture award for commitment to art

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW has consolidated its growing reputation as a top destination for arts lovers after scooping a prestigious public sculpture award.

The town – which has the largest collection of public sculpture per head of population in the UK – has been awarded the Marsh Prize for Excellence in Public Sculpture for its longstanding commitment to the commissioning, installation and care of public works of art.

Competition judges were impressed by the sheer range of sculpture on display in the town, which ranges from works by renowned post-war artists including Barbara Hepworth, Henry Moore, Elizabeth Frink and Lynn Chadwick to pieces from contemporary sculptors Will Spankie, Nick Turvey and Ekkehard Altenburger.

The panel also made special mention of Harlow Art Trust and the council's ongoing commitment to the commissioning of new sculptures for Harlow and for the "excellent" work in publicising the existence of the art works through catalogues, maps and active education programmes.

It is the first time that judges from The Public Monuments and Sculpture Association and Marsh Christian Trust have offered an award to an entire town.

Councillor Joel Charles, portfolio holder for community and citizenship, said the award cemented Harlow's "outstanding reputation" for the arts.

"This prestigious award underlines the fact that Harlow is now firmly on the national arts map with a collection of real significance," he told the Star.

"Public sculpture has been at the heart of our town since its inception and our outdoor collection has continued to grow over the years.

"The fact that one of Britain's best known sculptors, John Mills, chose to hold a rare retrospective in our Gibberd Gallery this year is evidence of the outstanding reputation Harlow now has for the arts."

Will Rea, chairman of Harlow Art Trust, added: "Harlow Art Trust is thrilled and delighted that Harlow Sculpture Town has been recognised and rewarded by the Marsh Christian Trust and PMSA for this prestigious prize.

"It is recognition of Harlow's collection and the hard work of the Harlow Art Trust, its partners and the town"

The 2011 prize will be presented by His Royal Highness the Duke of Gloucester at a ceremony in London on November 2.

Did you see woman at the Co-op?

POLICE have released CCTV images of a woman they would like to speak to in connection with a theft and assault in Harlow.

The incident happened at 3.50pm on Saturday, July 16 at the Co-op store in Tumbler Road, when a woman entered the store, selected items from display and left without making any attempt to pay.

When challenged by a female member of staff, the suspect spat in her face.

The woman is described as 6ft tall, white and of slim build. She was wearing a white top and spoke with an Irish accent. It is believed she may have got into in a silver Vauxhall Astra.

Anyone with any information is asked to contact PC Christopher Mizzi at Harlow police station on 101 - 0300 333 4444 if calling from outside Essex - or call Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

Am-dram comedy classic in safe hands

MORE than 30 years since it was first staged, Richard Harris's classic cricketing comedy is still hitting audiences for six.

But then time stands still on the village green, where generation after generation of fiercely competitive gents have been living out their sporting fantasies for hundreds of years. And it will continue to do so for as long as their forgiving wives agree to make the tea.

As the setting for a gentle satire of aspirational Middle England-types, it's as sound as a well-rolled wicket although the play is less concerned with the actual thwack of leather on willow than the off-pitch interaction between the bedhopping

REVIEW

Outside Edge Harlow Theatre Company

batmen and their jealous other halves.

And with a superb ensemble cast – cricket is a team game, after all – impressive set and impeccable direction, Harlow Theatre Company's rip-roaring production brought these volatile relationships vividly and hilariously to life.

The focus never strayed too far from officious club captain Roger (played with masterful timing and bumbling brilliance by Richard Parsley), a bundle of nervous energy desperately trying to hold his easily distracted teammates together ahead of a crunch match against their sworn enemies.

But even his whiter-than-whites marriage to prim-and-proper housewife Miriam (a sparkling if all-too-rare turn from Jane Prangnell) is sullied by shock revelations of the increasingly frazzled captain playing away from home in Dorking.

But theirs isn't the only marriage on the rocks. Acid-tongued ice maiden Ginnie (an ice-cool Catherine Petheridge) is also convinced that her hubby, boozy all-rounder Bob (an assured performance by Steve Hannam), is up to his old tricks as slimy, would-be womaniser Dennis (a solid first HTC performance from newcomer Mike Hughes) helps stir the pot.

In fact it is only diminutive spin-bowler Kevin (a cheeky, chirpy Kyle Jagers) and his domineering wife Maggie (a show-stealing turn from the talented Amanda Bailey) who seem happy and it's their bawdy banter and topsy-turvy relationship that provided the biggest laughs of the evening. The comedy may have been straightforward and the script none-too taxing, but with such strong performances and direction it was impossible not to be bowled over by yet another high-scoring HTC production.

Three show run for award-winning play

HORSEPOWER: Matthew Pattimore as Alan Strang in EQUUS

A HAUNTING psychological thriller exploring the complex relationships between myth, worship and sexuality will be brought to life on the Playhouse stage next month.

Powerful and absorbing, London Classic Theatre's production of Peter Shaffer's Equus is the story of 17-year-old Alan Strang, who is sent to a secure psychiatric hospital after blinding six horses with a metal spike.

As child psychiatrist Martin Dysart probes deep into the teenager's troubled past, the truth begins to emerge. But to truly be free of his demons, Alan must first relive the events of that terrible night.

Inspired by a true story, the Tony Award-winning play was first staged in 1973, with a film adaptation starring Richard Burton and Peter Firth appearing four years later. A recent West End revival starring Harry Potter actor Daniel Radcliffe and Richard Griffiths proved to be a hit with critics and audiences alike.

The play – which contains strong language, adult themes and nudity – opens on Thursday, October 13 and runs until Saturday, October 15. Performances on Thursday and Saturday begin at 7.30pm, with a Friday matinee at 10am.

Tickets can be purchased from the Playhouse box office on (01279) 431945 or online at www.playhouseharlow.com.

Tale of hunt for Nazi war criminal spans the decades

THE DEBT certificate 15, 1h53m

JOHN Madden directs a gripping English-language remake of the Israeli film Ha-Hov, about three retired Mossad agents who come face to face with the spectres of the past.

Tightly scripted by Matthew Vaughn, Jane Goldman and Peter Straughan, The Debt is a political thriller that cranks up the tension and elegantly conceals plot twists by cutting back and forth between events in 1966 and 1997.

On the whole, Madden abides by convention, but he occasionally wrong-foots us, including a jaw-dropping shock in the opening 10 minutes that sparks nagging doubts about the life expectancy of the lead characters.

The casualties of war are high and star billing offers scant protection from an inglorious early exit. In Tel Aviv, 1997, Sarah Singer (Romi Aboulafia) proudly unveils a book about her brave mother Rachel (Helen Mirren), father Stephan (Tom Wilkinson) and fellow Mossad operative David Peretz (Ciaran Hinds), who were despatched to East Berlin in 1966 to hunt down Nazi war criminal Dieter Vogel (Jesper Christensen). Through interviews with the people who were there, Sarah has penned a vivid account of the trio's exploits behind enemy lines and their remarkable determination to bring Vogel to justice.

Confronted with this written account of the 1966 mission to capture Vogel, who conducted horrific experiments on Jews, Rachel recalls the past with shame and despair. In flashback, we witness Rachel (Jessica Chastain) arrive in the divided capital, where she poses as the infertile wife of David (Sam Worthington) to secure a consultation with gynaecologist Vogel. Stephan (Marton Csokas) conceives the daring plan to kidnap 'the Surgeon of Birkenau' from his practice and smuggle his heavily drugged body across the border. However, Vogel is no pushover.

The Debt holds our attention in a vice-like grip, anchored by strong performances from the two ensemble casts. Madden directs the set pieces with aplomb, including a perfectly timed escape from the doctor's surgery.

Screen chemistry between Chastain and Worthington sizzles and Mirren commands attention in later sequences, capturing the despair of a woman who has been looking over her shoulder, waiting for the truth to catch up with her.

Christensen is mesmerising as the sadistic villain of the piece, baiting his captors by cackling, "I forgot. You Jews never knew how to kill. Only how to die."

There are a few plot holes, but we forgive Madden's film the odd indiscretion because the characters certainly don't forgive themselves, haunted by Stephan's assertion that: "Truth is a luxury. Some people have to put other things first: their family, their country."

>>>still on screen

Crazy, Stupid, Love Cal Weaver (Steve Carell) is enjoying a meal with his wife Emily (Julianne Moore), but the silence between them speaks volumes and in the car on the way home, Emily confesses she slept with co-worker David Lindhagen (Kevin Bacon) and wants a divorce.

Cal seeks refuge at a cocktail bar where lothario Jacob Palmer (Ryan Gosling) takes pity and confidently assures Cal he will help him rediscover his manhood.

With expert guidance, Cal seduces feisty schoolteacher Kate (Marisa Tomei). Meanwhile, Jacob pursues law student Hannah (Emma Stone), who is impervious to his chat-up lines, while back home at the Weaver house, 13-year-old Robbie (Jonah Bobo) declares his crush for 17-year-old babysitter Jessica (Analeigh Tipton).

Tinker, Tailor, Soldier, Spy Control (John Hurt), the chief of a 1970s British secret intelligence service unit known as the Circus, learns that his Russian counterpart has placed a mole within the ranks. He turns to trusted protegee George Smiley (Gary Oldman) to uncover the traitor among the other Circus members - Percy Alleline (Toby Jones), Roy Bland (Ciaran Hinds), Toby Esterhase (David Dencik) and Bill Haydon (Colin Firth).

The Inbetweeners Movie As Will (Simon Bird), Neil (Blake Harrison), Jay (James Buckley) and Simon (Joe Thomas) wave goodbye to Rudge Park Comprehensive, they decide they need a proper lads' holiday in Crete to reinvent themselves.

The Smurfs 2D When the evil wizard Gargamel chases the tiny blue Smurfs out of their village, they tumble through a portal joining their magical world to ours. They end up in New York from where they must find their way home.

Mr Popper's Penguins The life of businessman Tom Popper (Jim Carrey) is changed after he inherits six penguins.

Spy Kids: All The Time In The World 2D Retired spy Marissa Wilson Cortez (Jessica Alba) is called back into action to stop the evil Timekeeper from taking over the world and invites her stepchildren along for the adventure.

Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows Part 2 The final chapter of JK Rowling's epic story sees Voldemort (Ralph Fiennes) stealing the powerful Elder Wand from Dumbledore's grave. Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Ron (Rupert Grint) and Hermione (Emma Watson) continue their mission to track down the final Horcruxes.

ABDUCTION certificate 12A, 1h45m

TWILIGHT werewolf Taylor Lautner strikes out on his own in the action-packed thriller Abduction, in which he attempts to prove that he's much more than a pretty face with washboard abs.

While researching a school project on missing children, Nathan (Lautner) discovers that he bears an uncanny resemblance to the age-modified image of a boy who went missing many years ago.

Alas, he's picked a dud. John Singleton's film boasts turbo-charged chases and fight sequences but Shawn Christensen's script is littered with unintentionally hilarious interludes and some excruciating dialogue.

WHAT'S YOUR NUMBER? certificate 15, 1h46m

BASED on the novel 20 Times A Lady by Karyn Bosnak, What's Your Number? centres on a 20-something career girl (Anna Faris) who imposes a strict limit on the number of men she is allowed to sleep with before she finds her Prince Charming. When she hits that limit - 20 lovers - the only choice for the beleaguered heroine is to revisit her old flames, hoping that she missed a diamond in the rough the first time around.

Gabrielle Allan and Jennifer Crittenden's script clings to this flimsy dramatic conceit like a first-time swimmer with a flotation device. Alas, Mark Mylod's flat-footed and hare-brained romantic comedy capsizes within the first 10 minutes.

SHARK NIGHT 3D certificate 15 1h30m

IT'S definitely not safe to go back into the water in David R Ellis's bloodthirsty action-horror.

Sara (Sara Paxton) and her six college pals Beth (Katharine McPhee), Blake (Chris Zylka), Gordon (Joel David Moore), Malik (Sinqua Walls), Maya (Alyssa Diaz) and Nick (Dustin Milligan) head to a private lake to spend a relaxing weekend at Sara's family vacation home. While some of the students sunbathe and flirt, Blake, Malik, Maya and Nick go water-skiing and tragedy strikes. A shark attacks Malik, ripping off his arm.

Stranded on the island with the voracious shark circling them, Sara and her pals must make terrifying choices.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell
to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
As far as your relationships are concerned, this can be the most important week of the whole year, but a shift of power can also make one more unstable. This may be subtle but will see you rejecting the control of anyone, but also see someone resisting yours. Yet the right people and ties see you determinedly provide even greater support. Call now for your in-depth forecast...

Libra Sept 24-Oct 23
The Sun powers into your zodiac sign along with Mercury, joining Venus and Saturn. This cluster of Libran energy can give you the chance to be much more independent in your approach to life, and replaces a time of reflection with a time of action. Yet this may also see you determinedly shrug off restrictions or stale relationships. Call for more...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
If you have some aches and pains, it can focus your mind and you may even make a snap decision to visit a therapist and have some treatment. New techniques can be of great value to you at this time. However, it's also possible someone can be unexpectedly critical with an issue that has irritated them for a while, coming out. Call now for more news...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
You have a natural appreciation of life's mysteries and you can use your inquisitive-ness to great effect now. A time that is ideal for inner discoveries too. You are attracted to natural medicine or have ever fancied going on a weekend retreat, why not check out what the options are? Your self-awareness can really grow now. Call for more news...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
Your social and love life can take on added energy, but also greater unpredictability. If you are solo, and are enjoying playing the field, some short term flings are possible. In settled ties, there may be the odd squall but this can be a good thing if it helps to clear the air. Extra energy can be burnt off by upping your exercise. Call me for your love scope...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
You can become very much more social, but expect some plans to be fluid. You may think you are set to do something with a group, but there can be last minute changes of plan. Be philosophical about this, because your natural love of variety, can soon see you enjoying doing something new and completely different. Call me for more advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Home and family life can be lively with surprise visitors, unexpected demands, comings and goings. However, work can be unpredictable and last minute changes or the need to do overtime or cover sickness may interrupt your downtime. You may also find yourself playing the peacemaker between different arguing factions. Call for more advice...

Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20
Figuring out what you want from life becomes central. If you are a goal orientated type of Goat, this can be a time when your determination to push yourself to even greater heights will grow. Yet even if you are not, recognition can just seem to seek you out. You can also find yourself being much more assertive at home. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Electrifying discussions can be enlivening. In fact, if you find yourself in predictable company, you could say something controversial, just to make things come to life. There is definitely a hint of mischief about you. Unusual subjects can also draw you. Yet nervous tension can be high, so do find some ways to unwind and relax. Call for more...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
You want to feel that what you are doing in life has meaning. The truth, as it feels to you, is very important. Your more philosophical side grows stronger, and this can also see you watching more factual programmes on TV or researching your family tree. A need to explore can see you visiting places of historical interest. Call for more astral advice...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Money can come in at the start of the week, but financial obligations increase towards its end. If you have past liabilities, make a plan to deal with them. Just sweeping problems under the proverbial carpet will only provide a temporary solution. In romance, a magnetic connection can see a massive attraction take place. Call for your love scope...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
You can find yourself making some sudden but dramatic decisions as this month draws to a close. Plans that once seemed set in stone can lose their sparkle, as you respond to some powerful hunches and urges. Money matters are also spiky. You can find yourself making impulse purchases, but shared finances can be turbulent. Call for your financial scope...

Five-bed country cottage with views over farmland

coverproperty

Location Canfield Park Cottage, Hope End, Canfield

Category Five bedroom detached

Additional Exposed beams and brickwork, half-an-acre plot, five reception rooms, three bathrooms

Guide price £799,950

Agent Wright & Co, The Old Post Office, 4, Church Street, Sawbridgeworth Telephone (01279) 600400

LOCATED in a delightful plot of just over half an acre with fantastic views over paddocks and farmland, Canfield Park Cottage is a spacious family home with five bedrooms, five reception rooms and three bathrooms.

The accommodation has been configured so that, if required, a separate annexe could be created.

Canfield Park Cottage dates back to the 1930s and was originally the gamekeeper's cottage for the Earl of Oxford's hunting lodge at Great Canfield Park. Features such as exposed beams and brickwork add to this charm of the property.

Leading off the entrance hall are doors to the large living room, separate dining room, study/office, breakfast room and family/games room.

The kitchen is fitted with a range of solid oak units. There is an integrated Neff microwave oven, glazed display shelving with low voltage lighting and an integrated Bosch dishwasher.

Just off the kitchen are a utility/boot room and a gardener's cloakroom.

Four of the bedrooms are upstairs and the fifth is on the ground floor.

At the back of the house is a paved patio area with pergola with climbing wisteria, outside lighting and a brick retaining wall. Step up into the garden which is mainly laid to lawn with various borders and fruit trees and enclosed by mature hedging.

The garden extends to the side of the property – where there is a further lawned area with brick retained borders – and continues to the front of the house.

To the front of the house is plenty of space to park up to eight cars.

The Sawbridgeworth office of agents Wright & Co have full details of this property. Call (01279) 600400 to find out more or to arrange a viewing.

Reduced to £199,995

SITUATED in the popular Latton Bush area of Harlow, this end-of-terrace family home in The Readings is within easy access of all local amenities.

The house has three bedrooms and there is a delightful, full width conservatory at the rear of the property.

There is a four-piece fitted bathroom and a modern fitted kitchen. Modern features such as the double glazing and gas combi central heating mean the property will be warm and well insulated.

To the front of the house is block paving providing plenty of parking space.

Call Geoffrey Matthew's Harlow office on (01279) 444988 for more details.

Plenty of space for £350,000

BROOK Road is one of Sawbridgeworth's popular locations and this semi-detached property is just a short walk from the town centre and train station.

There are four bedrooms, three reception rooms and an outside office. Most of the downstairs has been fitted with laminate flooring which creates a very light and spacious feel to the property.

The back garden is a good size and has an attractive decked area with steps down to the remainder of the garden. There is also a detached timber garage.

Intercounty's Sawbridgeworth office have full details of this property. Call (01279) 600333 to arrange a viewing.

Yours for £450,000

MAYFIELD Close is in the Churchgate Street area of Old Harlow and this detached family home is certainly worth a viewing.

A closer look is important with this house as it is deceptively spacious. There are four bedrooms and a very large lounge.

There is also a study which could easily be used as a fifth bedroom.

To the front of a house is a driveway with a lawn and shed to the side. The back garden includes a decking area, lawn, shrubs and bushes surrounded by fencing.

There is also a garage with power and light connected.

Haart of Harlow on (01279) 443311 can provide full details.

Ideal first-time buy for £114,950

LOCATED in Guilford, Old Harlow, and within easy walking distance of the station, this one-bedroom property would be an ideal first time buy.

The entrance hall has access to loft space as well as a storage cupboard with shelving.

The lounge is a spacious room and the kitchen has a good selection of wall and base units with space for a washing machine, dishwasher and cooker.

There is also a study and the bathroom has recently been upgraded.

IT had to happen. Amidst all the doom and gloom of a stagnant market, double dip recession and a continuing fall in house prices, a report has been published denying it all.

Just days after the Nationwide Building Society announced that house prices had fallen by 0.6 per cent in August, highlighting sluggish demand and marginal rise in the number of available properties, the Centre for Economic and Business Research is predicting house prices will rise by a whopping 14 per cent over the next four years, taking the average house price up to £200,700!

Compared to the Nationwide's rather restrained report which suggested that prices will be stable or perhaps fall slightly over the rest of the year, the CEBR has revised its forecast for this year from a fall of 1.4 per cent to a fall of 1.3 per cent. After this it claims that house prices will rise gently.

Three factors are behind the CEBR's prediction: a shortage of housing, an increase in mortgage availability and the fact that interest rates will remain low.

According to the report, only 110,000 new homes will be built every year compared to the 225,000 homes needed annually to keep pace with housing needs, population growth and the trend towards reduced household sizes. Last year just 105,000 new homes were built in England, the lowest level since the 1920s.

The CEBR believes there will be a gradual increase in the availability of mortgages. If more people can access mortgage funding, more people will be able to compete for properties, helping to push those prices up.

As for continuing low base rates, with mortgage rates currently at record low levels how much lower could they get realistically?

Second guessing the housing market has never been easy. Conflicting reports from the 'experts' don't offer much help!

REVIEW

Bryn looked after us very well, kings were a very professional agent and were a lot better then other local agents as they even wanted to charge us money for our valuation, the whole team in the Harlow office were very professional and would highly recommend them to friends and family. kings were a really good agent and looked after every part of our sale to the best possible degree.

New Evoque is a baby grand

BY MATT JOY

YOU can measure the importance of a car by the length of build-up to its introduction. By this simple yardstick Range Rover's new Evoque is just about the most important car to be launched by the firm in the last decade.

First there was the concept, then the public debut and now, after a wait that felt like Christmas had been postponed, the real thing is here.

The Evoque is crucial because it will be the most accessible car Range Rover has ever made. It's an important distinction to make – the Evoque is cheaper than the Discovery but that wears the Land Rover tag.

No, the Evoque is a car for those who can't yet afford a full-house Range Rover but want the status and prestige that goes with it. It all begins with the exterior appearance, which by any standards is eye-catching. The fact that the Evoque looks like a concept car that has driven straight off the show stand shows how brave the company has been.

It has clear brand identifiers like the clamshell bonnet and twin-bar grille, but the overall shape is much more radical and has a street-toughness about it that mixes with the luxury feel.

Whatever your own opinion, the Evoque has unquestionably cap-

Engine: 2.2-litre diesel producing 187bhp
Transmission: Six-speed automatic driving all four wheels
Performance: Top speed 121mph / 0-62mph in 8.5 secs
Economy: 43mpg (combined)
CO² Rating: 174g/km

tured the attention of the car-buying public and that is more than half the battle.

Land Rover has also cleverly gone down the route of massive personalisation to tempt potential buyers even more. There are 12 exterior colours, three roof colours and eight alloy wheel designs just on the outside, but inside there are 16 tailored interiors as well as a huge list of options.

Choosing your own will be a delicious and welcome dilemma, which of course is the whole point, but regardless of the boxes ticked the Evoque's cabin is another big plus. There are lots of geometric shapes within the cabin that tie it with the exterior looks, while the quality of the trim and the coolness of the displays scream luxury.

Of course, this is a significantly cheaper car than a Range Rover but the Evoque sits comfortably in the same ball park as its illustrious big brother.

Go for the five-door and you have a clearer view out and much easier access to the rear seats, whereas the three-door is arguably better looking but with the inevitable penalty of a tricky journey to the second row. Boot space is good, but families who want one will be better served with five doors.

Under the skin, the Evoque has more options than any Range Rover before it. As well as the obvious four-wheel drive layout there is a low-emission front-wheel drive model pared to the cleanest 148bhp 2.2-litre diesel, which achieves an impressive 133g/km of CO². There is a higher-output 187bhp version of the diesel, too, as well as a 2.0-litre turbocharged petrol that is comfortably the quickest of the range.

However, if you want the full experience then the more powerful diesel with four-wheel drive and an automatic gearbox is the way to go.

Land Rover helpfully laid on some off-roading and it took only a few hundred metres to realise that any fears about this being a showy on-road poser were quickly dispelled. The Land Rover off-road genes are clearly there, and the car is capable of more than 99 per cent of its land-dwelling owners would ever go near.

Despite all that, it is on road that the Evoque is most impressive. The first thing that screams out is the directness of the steering which is well-weighted and with decent feel but with a surprising sharpness which highlights how agile and planted the car is.

Even in town it makes you forget you are driving something which could be called an SUV. The ride quality, certainly with the standard suspension, is impressive too, although there are alloy wheel options and the impressive MagneRide damping system to give you more comfort or sportiness as you desire.

Once you've finished cruising sedately and glancing at yourself in shop windows, the temptation to explore its abilities on a quiet road will be too hard to resist. The promise shown at low speeds is fully realised as the Evoque corners with real zeal, shrugs off its kerbweight and attacks the road like some sort of overgrown hot hatch.

That it can do this without feeling out of its depth in mud or too harsh on broken streets is testament to its breadth of ability.

Some people won't like the looks and others will dismiss it as another soft-roader for those who don't need it. But viewed as a car in its own right the Evoque, is a mightily impressive piece of engineering and design.

It is highly desirable, very capable and even decent value. If you're not a fan already, maybe the sight of hundreds of them on the road in coming months will help change your mind.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle.
That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD).
A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer
your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

As the UK's leading provider of integrated cash handling services, we transport, store and process cash for a wide range of customers. To meet the challenges ahead, it's essential that we're supported by people who share our values – including our commitment to keeping our company performing to the highest standards.

As part of our cash handling team, you'll be right at the heart of the operation. Responsible for a specified client or clients, you'll ensure that money entering and leaving the site is accounted for in an accurate and timely manner. It's fast paced, and you'll probably find that shifts fly by quickly. The work can be demanding but you will have the full support of your managers and colleagues throughout. A level of dexterity is required, and it is important that you have a good head for figures. Computer work is involved though training will be provided. A 10 year verifiable work/education history is essential.

In addition to competitive pay, we offer up to five weeks' paid holiday, pension scheme, life assurance, health checks, free uniform and childcare voucher scheme. We also believe in promoting our best people from within the business.

For support and questions regarding completion of your online application, call 01279 636587 between 09.00-16.00 Monday to Friday.

Essex County Council (High Street, Roydon) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) (No.4) Order 2011

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council intends, not less than seven days from the date of this notice, to make the above Order under Section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close High Street, Roydon, in the District of Epping Forest, for a distance of approximately 20 metres either side of the level crossing.

The closure is scheduled to commence on 9 October 2011 for 1 day between the hours of 01:00 and 13:00, weather permitting, or where appropriate signs are showing, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while overhead line renewal works are undertaken.

Access for emergency vehicles and pedestrians will be maintained at all times during the closure.

The alternative route will be via High Street, Harlow Road, Roydon Road, A1169 Elizabeth Way, A414 Allende Avenue, A414 Eastwick Road, Roydon Road, B181, High Street and vice versa.

The Order will come into effect on 9 October 2011 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Dated: 29 September 2011.

Yim Kong, Assistant Director for Highways, County Hall, Chelmsford.

Ladies suffer first loss after fightback

IT was down to earth with a bump for Harlow Ladies as they lost at Colchester II.

Harlow were confident before Saturday's clash after their opening 7-1 victory over Old Loughtonians III 12 days ago.

Harlow started well at Colchester and went ahead on 10 minutes when Emma Tweddle fired home from six yards out, following excellent build-up play.

However, the home side had a game plan.

Their tactic of using their speed and taking quick free-kicks didn't allow Harlow to settle into their normal rhythm.

Colchester equalised on 17 minutes. An initial save by Linda Rowley was pounced on by Colchester forward Minal Patel and she netted.

Just three minutes later they took the lead when a free hit outside the circle went unopposed as Colchester were allowed to run and shoot home.

Colchester II 3, Harlow 1

Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division

The visitors improved for the rest of the first half but were unable to score.

Harlow exerted pressure after the break, but were unable to break the Colchester defensive line.

Colchester netted a third goal on 57 minutes following a swift counter attack through the middle and there was no way back for Harlow.

HARLOW (squad): Rowley, Shearman, Figg, Trimble, Spencer, Welsford, Tweddle, Douglas, Esterhuysen, Amos, Ferdinando, Attack.

● HARLOW'S second team sit second in division four of the Essex Women's League after they beat Maldon & Little Baddow III 3-0 at home.

All of Harlow's goals came through a first-half hat-trick from Sarah Donaghey.

Gold at World Games

JEAN Pearce won three gold medals and claimed a bronze medal when she competed in the World Police and Fire Service Games.

Competing in the veteran 45 category, the 48-year-old former Harlow Athletic Club member was first in the mixed indoor rowing and singles rowing events.

The event, held in New York,

USA also saw the former Passmores School student win the shot put event with a throw of 8.20m. She was third in the discus with a throw of around 25m.

Pearce (nee Cole) has worked for the Met Police for 24 years and is a dog handler.

Her father, Harlow Athletic Club coach Ted Cole, said: "I'm very proud of her. She is very focused."

Controversy as Ferrians snatch draw

IT was a case of two points tossed away for Harlow as they were held to a draw at Old de Ferrians.

The visitors led 4-1 at one stage on Saturday, but the hosts then struck three goals to snatch a point.

Harlow were unhappy and claimed that offences were not picked up which should have ruled out the hosts' first and third goals.

Old de Ferrians went ahead when a free-hit was taken outside the Harlow D and was deftly flicked inside the near post on five minutes.

The hosts equalised three minutes later when a short corner was won and converted slickly by Adam Ottley.

Harlow went ahead on 32 minutes. James Smith, with his back to goal, turned between two defenders and fired a shot low into the goal.

Harlow then went 3-1 up on 40 minutes. Smith's excellent pass found Craig Cholerton, whose movement allowed him time to turn and slot his shot into the far corner.

Andy Boughtwood made it 4-1 on 43 minutes, flicking above the advancing home keeper after the latter had blocked his first shot.

The ball appeared to strike a home player's foot in the build-up to Old de Ferrians' second goal on 50 minutes, while Harlow were temporarily down to 10 men. Smith had left the pitch to get treatment for a cut to a hand.

Cholerton forced two good saves from the home keeper, but Old de Ferrians reduced the deficit to 4-3 through a low shot on 65 minutes.

Almost straight from the restart, Harlow keeper Shaun Hastler was forced to challenge for the ball with a home forward.

After Hastler had made a save the ball fell loose and an advancing midfielder slotted the ball into an open goal for 4-4 on 67 minutes.

HARLOW: Hastler, Castle, Plumridge, Grace, Krzoska (c), Symonds, Light, Smith, Boughtwood, Cholerton, Ottley.

● HARLOW II lost 2-0 at home to Crosytx III in division six south east of the East Men's Hockey League.

Poor home defence let Crosytx score twice on 15 and 25 minutes.

Track & field event a success

SIXTY youngsters battled it out at the second Quadkids competition.

Hosted by Harlow Athletic Club at the Mark Hall Sportcentre, the children showed their talent in four track and field events as they strived to improve on their previous best performances.

The clear-cut winner of the event was Will Galvin, who improved on his second place performance in July to win with a gold standard 277 points.

The girls' competition was a close-fought affair as Millie Smith, third last time, came from behind to beat Marie Agayre by a single point with a new best score of 220 points – matching the gold award.

Tony Benton, a spokesman for Essex Network Activator which helped organise the event, praised the London Road club. "Harlow are one of the leading lights in making QuadKids a success in our area, and this second event built on the success of the first meeting in July," he said.

"The organising team had worked hard to make things run smoothly. It was a pleasure to see that despite the conditions, over two-thirds of those who competed in both events improved on their points score, some by leaps and bounds."

Alex Steele, Harlow AC chairman, said: "It was great to see so many young people taking part, helping many new athletes find out what it is like to compete, which was exciting and fun, improving fitness and skill levels for all competitors."

Individual results:

Boys: 1. Will Galvin 277 points; 2. Adam Nnochiri 225; 3. Adam Hunt 215.

Girls: 1. Millie Smith 220 points; 2. Marie Agayre 219; 3. Sade Akinkunmi 207.

GREAT PERFORMANCES: Harlow's young athletes at the Woodford meeting

5 Star contest takes shape for AC

YOUNGSTERS from Harlow Athletic Club did well in an U-11 Team 5 Star contest.

The five-club event at Woodford on Saturday saw Harlow come second in both the boys and girls category with 17 and 22 points respectively.

Orion Harriers won the event overall and were first in both categories.

Harriers won the boys section with 21 points and the girls with 23 and in the latter category were only a point above Harlow. Notable successes were achieved by the boys' quintet of Lewis Harknett, Daniel Evans, Owen Harknett, Lewis Powell and George Harris.

Their combined times in the 300m were the quickest and the same five boys also achieved the best combined distances to win the long jump.

Meanwhile, the girls' quintet of Molly Gardner, Katie Woodstock, Claudia Andrews, Shannon Smith and Beth Gardner finished joint first with Orion

Harriers in the 300m.

The same five Harlow girls also won the long jump distance event.

● CANAAN Solomon ran the second fastest lap in the 3km race at the South Of England Road Relays Championships at Aldershot for U-13s. The Harlow Athletic Club racer was among 250 boys at the event.

Medics called to Rams' game

>>Continued from back converted as Harlow led 19-7.

On 37 minutes the Suffolk side scored a breakaway try, which was converted.

On the stroke of half-time, Harlow scored their fourth try and earned a bonus point when Kotze outpaced the visitors' defence to touch down.

Harlow led 26-14 at half-time.

In the first 10 minutes of the second half, Grimley scored an unconverted try for the hosts.

Stowmarket replied similarly and then scored their fourth try on the hour mark, cutting Harlow's lead to 31-24.

Stowmarket then levelled the score.

The dramatic ending then saw Smith gain the spoils for Harlow shortly after the injury to the Stowmarket player.

Second loss dents hopes

There were frantic efforts from Harlow in the closing stages to snatch an equaliser.

But Chapman's men could not score and Harlow – who to be fair have not played well all season but have picked up some fortunate results – simply must beat Soham Town Rangers at the Harlow Stadium this Saturday or face a nightmare autumn similar to that of last season.

Langley scoop tag rugby silverware again!

CHURCH Langley Primary School took pride of place when they won a tag rugby competition for the second successive year.

The A team from the Church Langley Way school defeated St Andrews Primary School, also from Harlow, by eight tries to four in the A section final.

The event at Upper Clapton Rugby Club last Thursday also saw Longwood Primary School beat another Church Langley team by 6-3 in the B final.

Seventeen teams competed, mainly all Year 6 boys and girls.

However, the performance of Church Langley's C team of Year 5 players was highly creditable. Nine-year-old Josh Scott scored seven tries for this team.

Church Langley deputy head teacher, David Stacey, said: "The team of Year fives were fantastic in their first ever tournament to achieve runners-up in their group. "They also drew 7-7 against our B team [from Year 6].

TOP TAG TEAM: Church Langley's successful A team at the tag rugby tournament held at Upper Clapton Rugby Club (S)

Many thanks go to Upper Clapton for organising such a fantastic event."

In the C group final, Ivy Chimneys Primary School from Epping beat Purford Green School from Harlow 5-

2 and in the D final, a Chipping Ongar Primary School team defeated Epping Primary School team 7-4.

Upper Clapton's club coach co-ordinator Dave Barker said: "It was a successful event and we have had five or six children coming back wanting to play rugby."

In tag rugby, players grab tags rather than tackling. The emphasis is on movement and passing.

Brave Bowen back in form

SPEEDWAY ace Luke Bowen admits he has struggled for confidence this season, since succumbing to a series of horrific injuries.

Speaking after the Rye House Rockets' excellent 47-43 victory over second-placed Sheffield at Hoddesdon on Saturday night, the Harlow speedster said: "Since I broke my arm, I haven't really had the feeling confidence-wise that I had before.

"When you're at the tapes, you need that anticipation that you're going to be there at the first corner. I've got that feeling back again now."

Aussie Tyson Nelson reeled off five wins in seven starts to top score for the hosts against Sheffield.

He had some great support from Bowen, who followed up last week's excellent paid 14 tally against Plymouth with 15 points against Sheffield.

"I should have got 16 last Sunday against Plymouth but my engine let go in the last race, and the crank pin broke up," explained Bowen, pictured right.

"That's going to be an expensive bill; about a grand [£1,000] to repair.

"So, although it has been a good night's work – I wasn't coming off the starts but I had so much speed. All the money has gone into the engine."

It has been a long road back from injury, but Bowen feels that he's finally heading in the right direction.

And Rockets needed Nelson and Bowen to be on top form as they clearly missed their number one Chris Neath.

The Rye House captain remains sidelined with concussion, and the rider replacement facility netted just five points – a long way short of what promoter Len Silver had been hoping for.

Steve Boxall – who was a fitness doubt during the week following a heavy tumble during his maximum against Plymouth – probably wished that he had stayed at home.

He won Heat 5, but those three points proved the extent of his contribution because he was having problems with his bike – later revealed to be a misrouted plug lead which had been shorting out on his fins all night.

The Rockets quickly recovered from a Sheffield 5-1 in the opening race to surge to a 32-20 advantage by Heat 9.

A six-point tactical win from Ricky Ashworth helped spark the visitors back to life, however, and although Nelson's fifth win of the night – a scintillating from-the-back success over Ashworth in Heat 14 – secured overall victory for the Rockets with a heat to spare, a last race success by Shane Parker ensured the Tigers a match point from the fixture.

Rye House scorers: Ritchie Hawkins 6+1 (from four rides); Luke Bowen 14+1 (6); Steve Boxall 3 (5); Jordan Frampton 7+1 (5); James Brundle 1 (3); Tyson Nelson 16 (7).

Sloppy start in higher league

A BIG improvement will have to be shown by Upper Clapton if they are to replicate last year's success.

Clapton enjoyed a brilliant 2010-11 season and gained promotion to Essex League One.

In their first match in the division, Clapton showed potential but paid for silly errors as they lost at home to Bancroft on Saturday.

Bancroft, relegated from the Greene King IPA Eastern Counties division two at the end of last season, started strongly.

They made a series of turnovers and put the hosts on the back foot, resulting in

Upper Clapton 5, Bancroft 19

RFU Essex League One (Canterbury Jack)

Clapton conceding three penalties in their own half in the opening 20 minutes.

The visitors' fly-half Luke Brewin successfully kicked all three and Bancroft led 9-0.

Clapton were unable to turn pressure into points and conceded the game's first try just a minute before the break.

A loose ball was gathered from the line-out by Bancroft winger Ricardo Duberry and he dashed 40 metres to score under the posts.

Brewin converted and Clapton trailed 16-0 at half-time.

After the break, the hosts forced Bancroft to concede some penalties.

From one, home scrum-half James Hack was alert to a quick tap opportunity and he released outside half David Harries who beat his man and scored an unconverted try.

Clapton almost scored again, but the referee awarded a penalty to Bancroft and gave home winger Laurie Dobbin a yellow card for a ruck offence on 65 minutes.

This allowed Bancroft to clear their lines and let their number eight to make some powerful runs.

Down to 14, Clapton were handicapped and they conceded a late penalty, kicked by Brewin.

Clapton's backs player-coach David Harries said: "This was a game that we should have won, but we failed to show the determination of the opposition in the opening 20 minutes. Bancroft came out of the blocks firing." UPPER CLAPTON: Prince, Illic, Roberts, Tindall, Dobbin, Harries, Hack, Dorling, Ayres, Trevillion, Hester, McFarlane, Garwood, Baldwin, Stokes.

Two records are broken

TWO Harlow Running Club records were broken and three personal best (PB) times for the distance were achieved by members at the Welwyn Garden City 10 Mile race.

Run on a fairly flat course but on a warm day, Steve Murtagh, in 6th place out of 254 finishers, was the quickest Harlow runner.

He won the Veteran 40 age group title in a fantastic 57 minutes and 4 seconds, which was a PB and also broke the HRC Vet 45 record.

He was followed home by Rick Ricketts (28th in 1 hr 5.36) and Roy Steven (29th place and 1st Vet 60 in 1:05.39 – a new HRC Vet 60 record).

Other Harlow places and times were: 36th Adrian Fell 1:07.23; 60th Richard Solomon 1:10.35; 67th John Tennant 1:12.28; 73rd Sean Flynn 1:13.25 PB; 118th Jamie Luck 1:20.38; 199th Ron Luck 1:31.58; 209th Ron Newton 1:33.37; 217th Linda Hawkins 1:35.41 PB; 219th Michelle Aitken 1:36.43; 235th Susan Dewen 1:41.55.

At the Saffron Walden 10K race, run on a challenging multi-terrain course, Andy Terrell finished in 26th place out of 209 finishers in a superb 43 mins 42 secs.

He was followed home by Andy Bradley (46th in 45.57), Jon Steadman (76th in 49.43), Martin McColgan (87th in 51.13), Janice Page (117th in 53.48) and David Page (125th in 54.15).

At a hilly and demanding New Forest Marathon Jamie Jephcott did well to finish in 82nd place out of 757 finishers in a commendable 3:28.58.

At London's Run to the Beat Half Marathon, Joanne Chung finished in 6,088th place out of 10,754 finishers in 2:08.16.

At a hilly Ingatestone 5 Mile race, Jamie Jephcott finished in 31.15 and Linda Hawkins recorded a PB time for this distance of 44.26.

Swift crushed by Servo

SERVO Link notched another whitewash, beating Golden Swift 8-0 away in the Harlow & District Premier Darts League.

Newcomers Buccaneers only just lost out 5-3 to Staple Tye Colts.

Tye Green Whites were 7-1 victors over Moot House.

Tye Green Foxes bounced back from their whitewash last week to take a 7-1 win at Moot House Raiders.

Colt Hatch drew 4-4 at The Crusader.

White Admiral's match against Sawbridgeworth Brewery was postponed to allow the team to attend the funeral of long-time member Ken Hunt.

Risden flying high with fifth victory

RISDEN Wood maintained their 100 per cent record at the top of the premier division with a fifth successive win in the Harlow & District Football League.

They won 6-2 at EKB and are four points clear with a game in hand on some sides.

In division one, Lindsey Street chalked up a third win and are in pole position.

They defeated Risden Wood reserves away 6-2.

A third win out of three for Parsloe Athletic reserves kept them top of the pile in division two. They beat FC Cincuenta 4-3 at home.

Lindsey Street reserves kept up their 100 per cent record with five wins from five in division three. They won 3-0 at home to Harberts reserves.

In division four, Risden Wood Athletic made it four wins out of four with a 3-1 home defeat of FC Clark reserves.

Meanwhile, in division five the pacesetters are newly-formed FC Sporting Risden.

They maintained their 100 per cent record with a fifth win after beating Harberts Old Boys A 10-0 at home.

Risden have scored 33 goals already this term.

Gymnasts vault to regional medal success

gymnastics

LAUREL Peck took pride of place among Harlow Gymnastic Club members at a regional competition in Suffolk.

Competing in the level 5 (age 9-10) competition, Laurel won gold on the vault and claimed silver on the bars at the Piper Vale event in Ipswich.

Overall, Laurel claimed silver with an impressive total score of 45.50 points.

There were another three silvers and two bronze medals gained by competitors from the Broadley Road club.

Leah Johnson took a silver on the vault and was sixth overall with a score of 43.55.

Olivia Smith received bronze for her bar routine and took the overall bronze medal (score 43.00) in the age 11-12 group.

Bethany Harryman and Lois Cato narrowly missed out on the medal positions, coming in 4th and 5th respectively overall with 42.50 and 41.40 points.

Forest no fare ground attraction for cabbie boss

Waltham Forest 2, Harlow Tn 0

Ryman League, div one north
By ALAN SCOTT

BLACK cab driver and boss Danny Chapman shoots out for a Saturday late shift after a bad Hawks performance – and he was straight on the road after this dire display in East London.

Chapman was left a frustrated man as his Harlow Town side slipped from second to sixth and lost their five-match unbeaten league run after a shocking afternoon shift.

One could blame the uneven pitch – which would have put Hackney Marshes to shame – but the fact that Harlow had just two shots on target during 90 minutes is simply not good enough for a side aiming for promotion.

There was no invention and bite in midfield, while the defence was flat-footed and there was little spark in attack.

"I'll be heading out to work later," said Chapman. "It gives me time to think about it all. Otherwise I just get on my wife's nerves."

The absence of defenders Lamar Lemonius (ankle) and Lee Gledhill (hamstring) forced player-coach Christian Wheeler into the back three.

Striker James Peagram (virus) and influential midfielder Danny Brown (ankle) were also out, while new signing, left wing back Michael Deane, was on the bench.

At the end of a woeful first half, Forest took a surprise lead in injury-time. The ball ricocheted around the box before Josh Bonnett fired a low shot past keeper Bert Bossu.

Harlow were just as poor in the second half.

Deane replaced the ineffective Cormac Hegarty on the hour.

Minutes later Harlow had their first real chance when Leon Lalite's neat free-kick was met by Piers Wixon who headed over the bar.

The hosts doubled their advantage on 68 minutes

when Harlow were undone by some shocking defending.

Defender Jack Haverson thought he heard a shout from someone, but should still have dealt with the danger.

Surprised by the lack of a clearance the ball somehow bounced over 6ft 7ins Bossu and Forest's Joel Palmer nipped through to finish from an acute angle by the right post.

Wixon had Harlow's best chance on 73 minutes but Forest custodian Aaron Omand made a good save from his powerful shot from just inside the box.

Minutes later the hosts were denied a third when Peggy Lokando's well-hit free-kick thudded against a post with Bossu beaten.

The French stopper then made a superb injury-time tip over save from Manu Dagher to prevent a third.

Chapman added: "In the second half we did not come out at all. Once the second goal went in we looked like we gave up and that's not acceptable. You cannot make mistakes like we made for the second goal and expect to get something from a football match."

HARLOW Tn: Bossu 5, Marshall 6 (Docker 86), Haverson 4, Wheeler 4, Kirby 4, Kilapi 4, Hegarty 2 (Deane 60, 5), LALITE 6, Wixon 6, Bruno 5, Henry 5 (Bunn 71). Subs not used: Mitchell, Purdue (gk).

Paula Reyns in three gold medals

swimming

PAULA Reynolds had plenty to celebrate after she bagged three gold medals at the Barnet Copthall Sprint Meet in Hendon.

The Harlow Penguins Masters squad came first in three events: the 100m individual medley (IM) in 1 min 18.43 secs, 50m backstroke (35.95s) and 100m backstroke (1:19.02).

Penguins swimmers thrived with 10 more medals being gained at the competition, including three gold, three silvers and four bronze medals.

Alan Canham won golds in the 50m breaststroke (41.98s) and 100m breaststroke (1:44.80).

He also gained a silver in the 50m butterfly (40.82s) and bronze in the 50m freestyle (38.14s).

Sarah Stringer took gold in the 25m freestyle (15.87s) and bronze in the 50m freestyle (33.25s).

Penguins' most junior squad member, Darren Tucker, earned bronze medals in the 50m breaststroke (36.33s) and 100m breaststroke (1:18.99).

The club's head coach, Martin Stringer, achieved a silver in the 25m freestyle (14.65s).

The mixed medley relay team of Paula (backstroke) Alan (breaststroke) Martin (butterfly) and Sarah (freestyle) were denied gold by a team from Putney, South West London.

Other results: Darren Tucker - 7th 50m freestyle and 4th 25m freestyle; Martin Tucker - 4th 50m breaststroke; 4th 50m butterfly; 5th 50m butterfly.

Chapman shakes up his squad

Boss hopes to ignite misfiring Hawks

MICHAEL Deane is the first of up to three players Harlow Town boss Danny Chapman hopes to sign in the next fortnight.

Meanwhile, Harlow could release up to two squad players as Chapman looks to shake up his squad.

Left wing back Deane, right, was snapped up by Harlow Town in time to play at Waltham Forest with just seven minutes left of the deadline for registering new players.

The 26-year-old former Welling United player has joined from Ryman division one north rivals Maldon & Tiptree United.

He was given his first start at Tilbury in Tuesday's league match.

Deane can play anywhere on the left and as a striker.

Chapman said: "Because we have so many injuries we need to strengthen. Michael can play at left-back or left wing back. He is very quick and very strong, technically decent. He has played at Blue Square South [two divisions above Harlow].

He can do a similar job to that of [right wing back] Luke Marshall. His pace is electrifying."

The Hawks boss is hoping to bring in a striker, a central midfielder and possibly a defender.

"There are one or two other positions we need to strengthen," he added.

Chapman is hopeful centre-half Lee Gledhill (hamstring) will be fit for Saturday's home match against Soham Town Rangers, who switched to the Ryman League from the Southern League in the summer.

Defender Lamar Lemonius (ankle) is expected to be out for another week, while skipper Danny Brown's ankle injury shows no sign of clearing up.

Striker James Peagram (virus) will return.

Harlow will be looking for three points from Saturday's match. "Soham are the draw specialists. They have drawn more games than anyone else," Chapman added.

Both sides are not in FA Cup action due to early exits.

It means Harlow can make up lost ground in the race for a play-off spot.

GETTING SHIRTY: Harlow's David Roze, far right, tries to break over the Stowmarket try line at Rams Gorse on Saturday (HSP0771842)

Medics called to Rams' game

PARAMEDICS had to be called after a Stowmarket player sustained a neck injury shortly before the end of a dramatic match at Harlow.

The visiting player sustained the injury at a ruck in the 73rd minute of Saturday's game, only seconds before an interception was made from which Stowmarket scored a converted try to level the score at 31-31.

The Stowmarket player was not moved until after the ambulance arrived and the game was then switched to an adjoining pitch after a delay.

Rams' coach Lee Harron came on for the closing moments which saw Harlow's pressure rewarded when they were given a penalty.

Rams fly-half Danny Smith held his nerve to kick this from the very last kick of the game and hand Harlow the points.

Earlier, the visitors started well and good attacking play set up a seventh-minute try for the visitors under the posts.

The conversion was kicked and Harlow trailed 7-0.

The hosts resisted further pressure before they scored on 17 minutes.

Good movement from the home backs preceded winger Werner Kotze outpacing the defence to touch down near the posts.

Smith kicked the conversion.

Harlow scored two more tries on 21 and 30 minutes.

Two Smith kicks were followed up by Will Grimley and Smith himself for touch downs, one of which the fly-half

Second loss in four days dents play-off hopes

AFTER a run of five league games unbeaten, Harlow Town have now suffered two defeats in four days and given boss Danny Chapman a real headache.

The Hawks went down 2-1 to lowly Tilbury in the Ryman League division one north on Tuesday and the Harlow boss must be growing increasingly concerned at the lack of goals his side are scoring or even efforts they are creating in the first place.

Chapman made one change to the side that lost 2-0 at Waltham Forest on Saturday.

He gave new signing Michael Deane a first start at left wing back in place of Cormac Hegarty.

But the visitors were a goal down after only 10 minutes.

Former Harlow player Bradley Barnes slid the ball home unmarked at the near post.

The closest Hawks came to levelling was when Piers Wixon latched onto Leon Lalite's lovely through ball, but he was denied by the home keeper.

Harlow's other chance came when Luke Marshall just failed to get on the end of an opportunity that was prevented by sharp keeping from the Tilbury custodian.

Just three minutes into the second half Harlow found themselves 2-0 down.

Tom Webb's ball across the box came to Tom Farr and he curled it from the left side of the penalty area, beyond Hawks keeper Bert Bossu and into the opposite corner.

Chapman made changes with both midfielder Jon Docker and striker James Bunn coming on.

Just past the midway point of the second half, Lalite's fierce shot was superbly blocked by the home stopper.

The ball fell loose to Wixon but the keeper saved with his feet before the ball went out of play.

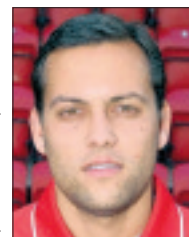

On 71 minutes, Harlow received a lifeline when Wixon was upended in the box. Docker, right, smashed in an excellent penalty which easily found the
